MR. HALDANE AND MONARCHY

"Mr. Haldane's personality is certainly one one of the most interesting, if not the most attractive, in our politics. It is many sided, and it is picturesque," writes the "Nation." "A citizen of the modern world, Mr. Haldane also suggests, intellectually and physically, some high placed Abbé of the eighteenth century, a sinuous, bustling, many-sided figure, who played at Versailles the agreeably varied parts of courtier, Churchman, statesman, and man of pleasure. Mr. Haldane has even the Churchman's traditional gift of utterance, and that, we know, is a fluent rather than a precise and illuminating form of speech.

"If he is not an orator, he is a talker of the type which many Englishmen like and are accustomed to admire, and if he has as yet accomplished no great thing, he has undeniable powers of work. They enable him to combine the pursuit of politics, law, metaphysics, and society, and to dazzle a world not over-given to strenuousness with a sense of ease and brilliancy of accomplishment, of a genial, smooth, and adroit personality, good-tempered and pleasantly cynical, after the Palmerstonian fashion, and playing in a masterful way with a great variety of subjects. Not that Mr Haldane's ideas are strikingly original.

"But the immediate question is whether Mr. Haldane's ideas are Liberal and Radical ideas. Some of them at least are undeniably German, others strike us as almost Jacobite. Mr. Haldane seems to us to figure English society of the future as organised on some new model of German efficiency, and at the same time retaining, and even extending, the domain of regal aristocratic privilege, the machinery of class distinctions, the luxury of habit, that characterise it to-day. The monarchy plays a considerable part in their sketch plans of Mr. Haldane. It was a little surprising to find the King advised to lay on the shoulders of the Lords-Lieutenant, by way of personal speech and contact, duties and responsibilities that can only be attached to them by Act of Parliament. But Mr. Haldane proceeded to speak of the Monarchy in terms which might have been applied with some point to the Kaiser, but were out of place as a description of an English King. One hardly knows whether to regard this as serious constitutional doctrine or merely a dexterous revival of the almost lost art of the courtier. If the former, we think that Mr. Haldane's resignation is due to his colleagues and to the Liberal Party; if the latter, we think that flattery so gross ill accords with the position of an English Constitutional Minister.

"Mr. Haldane informed us in his speech at Hampstead that the greater the Sovereign the greater the initiative he could and did show, 'this greatness consisting in the knowledge how adequately to interpret the wishes and the spirit of his people.' We should have said that 'initiative' was the very power which the Constitution denied to the King and reserved to his Ministry, and that the 'harmony' between the two Powers of which Mr. Haldane spoke depended on the extent to which the responsibility of Ministers to Parliament veiled the acts and will of the Monarch, and gave him a security that no King, with a Sovereign Parliament such as ours, could obtain without it.

Pilgrimage and Quarantine.

Dr. Hamada Bey, the Quarantine Board Delegate in the Hedjaz, has now been allowed by the Turkish authorities to proceed to Mecca, in compliance with the Egyptian Government's request. The measures, which had been taken by the Vali of the Hedjaz for preventing the Egyptian Delegate from accompanying the pilgrim to Mecca, are said to be due to the fact that, during the last pilgrimage Dr. Suleiman Bey took photographs of the Kaaba and other scenes of the Holy Cities.

American Tourists for Egypt.

The White Star Liner "Arabic," which has been chartered by Mr. Frank C. Clark, for his annual cruise to Egypt and the Mediterranean, is leaving New York on February 6th and is due at Alexandria on March 11th with a contingent of about five hundred tourists. According to the latest advice from New York five hundred of the six hundred and thirty, who are going on the trip, had already paid up in full side trips and everything. The "Arabic" leaves Alexandria on the 15th March for Jaffa to pick up the tourists left in the Holy Land and is due back in Egypt two days afterwards, sailing finally from Alexandria for Naples on March 23rd.

Commercial Turn Of Mind.

Genoese have just shown once more their commercial turn of mind. Having grasped the importance of the measure taken by the Paris prefect of police to let his policemen receive lessons in modern languages, Genoese have followed that good example. Genoa, like Paris, will have its "Berlitz police agents" who will be taught in the Genoa branch of the renowned Berlitz Schools. When will it be the turn of the Egyptian shawishes? (ADVT.)

CAIRO ESTATES LTD.

The meeting of the Cairo Estates Limited which was convened for Saturday afternoon at the Grand Continental Hotel was dismissed by the chairman, Maître Carton de Wiart, after a few minutes sitting as there were not sufficient shares represented to form a quorum. The auditor briefly explained that the books of the company had been examined and that a report would be ready to place before the shareholders in the course of a few days, before the next meeting was convened. The day on which this meeting will be held has not yet been settled but it will probably be at an early date.

ACCESSION DAY REVIEW.

His Highness the Khedive has been most graciously pleased to express to His Excellency the Sirdar his entire satisfaction with the smart appearance of the troops and the manner in which the various movements were carried out on the occasion of the review held in honour of the anniversary of his accession to the throne on 8th instant.

SAVOY HOTEL CAIRO

A number of dinner parties preluded as usual the Saturday dance at the Savoy, Count Kodziebrolski being one of those who entertained a party which included General Thurneysen Pasha, the Marquis de Fioravanti and Baron de Villenfangue. Miss Cochrane's table was laid for eight covers. Mrs and Mrs. Schuyler Ross had as guests Mr. and Mme. Adolf Cattaui, Mme. Aghion, Mr. Heller, Mr. Leon Suares and Mr. Alfred Suares. Captain and Mrs. Schreiber and Captain and Mrs. Dunbar were noticed at another table, with Mrs Echalas were Miss Frost, Colonel Macfarlane and Captain Hibbert. Dr. Meisels and Dr. Hildesheimer were dining with Mr and Mme. Zahar. Lieut. Orred entertained Mrs. and Miss Fitzclarence. Prince Youssouf Kamel, one of the most popular of the Khedivial family, had a party of three. Omar Bey Sultan acted host to Countess Wanda Chamaré and Mme. Carlotta Feliciani. Others noticed in the restaurant were Mrs. Arthur Thomson, Mrs. Howard Taylor and Mrs. and Miss Monsure Robinson.

Many and varied were the toilettes noticed during the evening for the gathering was more of a cosmopolitan nature than usual and every variety of dress was to be seen, from that heavy with sequins of mackerel hues, and weighted further with deep hem of velvet, to the charmingly fresh and simple frocks worn by various of our debutantes. Among the latter were specially noticed those worn by Miss Tuck, Miss Devonshire and Miss Davidson, all, either of cream net spotted or plain, run with quantities of narrow ribbon or weighted with bands of satin. Miss Joseph's pretty frock might also have been included in the same category, the lace one worn with good effect by Miss Rees bore bands of blue velvet both on shirt and bodice. Miss Nungovich also looked charming in her simple frock of blue painted muslin.

Mrs. Dunbar wore perhaps the most beautiful frock in the room, though it was difficult to tell by the artificial light whether it was yellow or pink or one of those indescribable shades that lie between the two. It was of soft satin, the short bodice beautifully draped over a vest of guaged net, and across the shoulders were handsome wide bands of guipure. Miss Felix Brown also wore a lovely frock of pink satin, heavy applications of silver tissue, tassels etc., appearing among the folds of the corsage; and Mrs. Chatterton Adam's plainly cut gown of pale blue chiffon velours was wonderfully becoming. Mrs. Nolan was in yellow satin, long lines of shimmering embroidery dividing the panels of the skirt; both Mrs Perkett and Mrs de Cosson were in much the same colour, the frock of the latter very much diamentée. Miss Carey was in emerald green, a colour very becoming to her; the Misses Morcom, very much in request, were wearing frocks of cream and pink respectively. The Countess Wanda Chamaré, who retired early from the scene, was clad in a marvellous gown of blue with tissue embroideries upon it, and in her coiffure she wore a wreath of golden grapes. The frock of the Countess Rosslyn was also heavily weighted with tissue embroidery, and she wore many pearls and diamonds.

Many must be the lessons in worldly wisdom and the science of dressing deduced by those who are content to be merely lookers on at these Cairo dances. Folios might be written on the cult dedicated to Terpsichore as expressed by different nationalities and different individuals as they chase the glowing hours with flying feet according to their fancy. So also valuable hints might be gathered as to the true proportion of colours as one notices shades excellent in themselves, but discordant to a degree when brought into violent juxtaposition with others.

A RADICAL M.P.'S VISIT.

DR. RUTHERFORD IN EGYPT.

Dr. Rutherford has been very busy the last few days. On Saturday he again visited the Ministry of the Interior where he had a conversation with Dr. Dunlop, the Adviser to the Ministry. He also called upon Mr. Machell, who introduced him to Mustapha Pasha Fehmy, President of the Council of Ministers. Although the industrious and energetic member for Brentford has been but a very few days in Egypt, he has already had an opportunity of gathering much valuable information at first hand. As to how far the interchange of views has confirmed or modified those previously held, it was not possible to discover. The Doctor, being of a cautious disposition—he is a Scotsman—acts upon the principle that a close tongue makes a wise head—an attitude, which, though disappointing to idle curiosity, is both correct and commendable. This much, however, we are in a position to assert without fear of contradiction. By one and all he was received with becoming courtesy and consideration. In no single instance did he meet with a suggestion of churlishness or a disposition to treat his enquiries with undue reticence. Every official, with whom he conversed, exhibited a willingness to furnish him with all available information. In fact, the officials all uniformly recognised that they were the servants of the public and at the same time his perfect right to institute enquiries into the working of their several departments. One example will suffice to show the readiness with which Dr. Rutherfird obtained assistance in the pursuit of his investigations. After his visit to the Kasr-el-Aini Hospital he remembered that there were certain questions he had omitted to put to the Principal. He therefore wrote to Dr. Keatinge, who, not content to reply by letter, called upon him at his hotel and fully discussed with him all the points upon which he desired elucidation. We are convinced that Dr. Rutherford will carry away with him pleasant memories of the British official in Egypt and should he at any future time consider it his duty from his place in Parliament to criticise their conduct or policy, it will be without a tinge of rancour or asperity. To non-official Britishers, who are accustomed to see their compatriots daily held up to opprobrium and obloquy by Mustapha Pasha Kamel's newspaper, it is not a little gratifying to learn that so favourable an opinion has been formed by one whose judgment is certainly without bias in their favour.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Rutherford took tea at the well appointed mansion of the Princess Nazle Hanem, the wife of Hassan Rifky Pasha, where he was introduced to M. F. Charles Roux, secretary to the French Agency. With the Princess's exquisite taste in dress, her dignified bearing, her grace and charm of manner, and her brilliant conversational powers the Doctor expressed himself enchanted.

At 7.30 yesterday morning Dr. Rutherford left Cairo for Alexandria where he has been invited by Dr. Dunlop to visit some Government schools. He also proposes to make a cursory investigation into the working of the Alexandria Municipality, returning to Cairo before the approaching holidays. It is unfortunate for him that Beiram is so close at hand as that festival must necessarily arrest to some extent his visits of inspection.

Of his prospective arrangement all at present known is that he will dine one night in the coming week with his old Cambridge friend, Mr. Boyd Carpenter, Inspector of the Ministry of Education and will be a guest of the Constitutional Reform League, which intends giving a banquet in his honour. Whether he will accept a similar compliment from Mustapha Pasha Kamel remains to be seen. Up to the present he seems to have kept studiously aloof from that "pioneer of liberty, that persecuted champion of a persecuted cause," to use the words of the "Egyptian Standard" of yesterday. Rumour has it that the proferred hospitality of the great nationalist leader has been politely but firmly declined.

FREEMASONRY IN EGYPT

The ceremony of the installation of W. M. Wor. Bro. Delanoy P.D.G.W. etc. in the Star of the East Lodge No. 1355 English Constitution took place on Friday the 10th inst. at the Masonic Hall, Shareh el Boursah, Cairo.

This lodge has been working for many years in the Arabic language, though under English Constitution. H.E. Idris Bey Ragheb, Grand Master of Egypt has however brought the lodge's working under his constitution to such a state of perfection that with the election of W. Bro. Delanoy it has been decided to carry on the working of this lodge in the English language in future. This new era in its life was most auspiciously inaugurated at the installation ceremony which was ably performed by W. Bro. Percy Smith assisted by W. Bro. Serjeant. Bro. C.E. Wolff and Bro. Brabant were invested Wardens, W. Bro. Peacock, Treasurer and other keen masons to the minor offices.

The ceremony was honoured by the Presence of the Dep. Dist. G.M. of Egypt and the Sudan, W. Bro. Keating and among the guests were W. Bro. Harrison, W. Bro. Tucker, W. Bro. Clunn and W. Bro. Powell.

At the meeting and at the banquet which followed at Shepheard's Hotel a particularly cordial feeling was evinced towards the Grand Lodge of Egypt which was worthily responded to by the representatives present.

NOTES FROM SUAKIM.

SIR ELDON GORST'S VISIT.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Suakim, January 7.

Sir Eldon Gorst, accompanied by the Sirdar, Sir F. Reginald Wingate Pasha, and their respective staffs arrived at 11 p.m. on Sunday after having visited Port Sudan, and slept in the train at Graham's Point. At 7 a.m. on Monday, they started for the Shata Gate Station, and on the arrival of the train a salute was fired. They were met by the Governor of the Province, Miralai C. J. Hawker Bey, and other Government officials. The 7th Battalion of Infantry, police, etc. completed the escort. A procession was immediately formed, headed by two men on camels, one carrying the Egyptian and the other the British flag and made its way through the town to the Mudirieh. In the square in front of the Mudirieh building were drawn up the troops, with band, police, camel mounted men of the Slavery Department, and boys from the Government School. Sir E. Gorst inspected the boys, after which one of the lads recited an address, and presented it to him.

Breakfast was partaken of in the Mudirieh, and at 8.30 a.m. an official reception was held. The Egyptian officers of the Army, Government officials, civilians of all nationalities, the sheikhs of the province, etc. were presented in turn to Sir E. Gorst, and the Sirdar.

After the reception the distinguished company embarked in the Governor's motor boat, and made a tour of the harbour, landing at Graham's Point, where they entrained and left at 11 a.m. for Sinkat, and Summit, with the intention of paying a visit of a few hours to to Erkowit the following morning.

THE NEW YEAR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT).

Port Sudan, January 4.

A dinner and smoking concert was given on New Year's eve by Capt. Ryall on board the S.S. "El Kahira" at which many people were present who thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and Capt Ryall proved himself an excellent host. As the clock struck 12, the syren and foghorn denoted the approaching of the New Year by playing various tunes. Another evening party was given by Mr and Mrs Von Becker, and the many that were present included Bimbashi Kelly, Drury Bey, Capt. P.N. Draper, Dr. E.S. Crispen, etc.,

House Destroyed by Fire.

On January the 2nd a fire broke out at 3 p.m. and resulted in the complete destruction of the house of a contractor. The fire engine and brigade turned out, but their services were not of much use as the flames had taken hold of the house before they arrived. Their attention was then turned to an adjoining wooden structure, and by drenching this with water they were able to save this from destruction also.

Latest Arrivals

Capt. Ralston Kennedy and Sir Wm. Garstin arrived to-day in a special train. The former is residing on board the S.S. "Mukhbir". Sir Wm. Garstin made a trip out to Khorabart in the motor car to report upon the water scheme, and returned later in the day. The Rev. Thom arrived from Suakin on Saturday and is conducting the services to-morrow in the church. His Brittannic Majesty's Consul General, Sir Eldon Gorst, arrived to-day in his special train. After breakfast a tour of inspection was made to the Customs where he was met by the British Vice-Consul of Port Sudan. The quays were next visited, after which he crossed the harbour where a reception was held, and the principal people were introduced to him. The streets were all decorated for the occassion and a huge triumphal arch was built at the landing stage with the word "welcome" displayed. The Mudireh was visited, and then two motor cars conveyed him and his staff round the town. In the afternoon a trip was made up the harbour and a visit to the Sudan Mercantile Co's workshops, where all the different plants were in action. Great interest was taken in their brickmaking machine which has just been completed. Returning from there Sir Eldon stopped to inspect the new rolling lift bridge, which was worked by electricity for the first time, the power being generated at a temporary station. Tea was taken at the Engineers' mess and before his departure to Suakim another reception was held in the tent of the Egyptian officers.

The majority of commercial people were disappointed that they did not have the opportunity of bringing to his notice their many troubles, the chief being the land regulations. However, they all hope that the scheme at present in force will be withdrawn and a sensible one made, then Port Sudan will go ahead a littler faster, and will give employment to the many unemployed and bring more material into the port.

GREEK ECONOMICAL KITCHENS

INAUGURATION AT CHATBY.

The Hellenic community of Alexandria has frequently afforded us the inspiriting spectacle of a progressive colony and ample evidences of its vitality and of its civilizing character. Within the year that has just passed three important educational and industrial institutions, marking great progress in the evolution of the Greek community, were established in Alexandria, thanks to the enlightened generosity of three of its distinguished members.

The schools founded by MM. Benacchi, Salvago and Zervudachi are sure to prove most beneficial, not only to the children of the large Hellenic community, but also to this great city, to the industrial development of which these young men will in time greatly contribute.

Yesterday we had again the pleasure of witnessing another manifestation of Hellenic well-directed generosity and philanthropy. Mrs. Virginia Benachi, the honoured wife of the President of the Hellenic community in Alexandria, conceived a few months ago the noble idea of establishing in Alexandria a soup-kitchen for the benefit of those unfortunate people who are unable to provide themselves with the necessary wholesome and well-cooked food.

It was not only the pecuniary problem which Mrs. Benachi quickly solved by her munificence; there were also other difficulties to be encountered which had entailed considerable labour on all those who had volunteered their valuable aid to Mrs. Benachi. And now the establishment has turned out perfect in all its details, everything having received the most minute attention.

A magnificent, spacious and most fully lighted hall, in Mr. Salvago's splendid industrial school at Chatby, has been allotted for use as a dining room; an adjoining hall has been converted into a kitchen, replete with culinary utensils and two colossal cauldrons; another serving as a scullery, also spacious and well-lighted. In fact a special architectural feature of Mr. Salvago's industrial palace, is the plentiful light which pervades all its innumerable sections; an advantage greatly to be appreciated in Alexandria, where most of the buildings, both public and private, are sunk in darkness.

At the inaugural ceremony which took place yesterday at 11.30 a.m. an immense concourse of people of all nationalities and all classes attended, the Greek element predominating. The boys and girls from the Greek schools attended also in strong contingents. During the religious part of the ceremony, conducted by H. B. the Patriarch Photius in person, the school girls sang the appointed hymns. Extracts from the Acts of the Apostles were also read by a young girl, whose voice and earnestness greatly edified the hearers. Towards the end of the religious ceremony H. B. the Patriarch as well as Mr. Sinadino delivered appropriate orations, in their accustomed warm eloquence, extolling the great work of Mrs. Benachi. When the ceremony was over, dinner was served to the pupils of the schools and a great number of ladies and gentlemen.

By a payment of P.C. 2½ visitors to the establishment will be provided with ample, wholesome, pure food, cleanlily prepared by cleanly cooks and attendants.

What renders this new establishment particularly noteworthy is the fact that its hospitable tables will welcome any person, independently of his nationality. Philanthropy has larger boundaries. The Greeks are certainly patriotic, but in question of philanthropy their aims are universal. Suffering humanity has equal claims upon everybody. This great truth, this Christian, moral code, is not only understood, but is also put into practice by the Greeks both in their own country and wherever they establish themselves.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

The Marquess of Anglesey, who has been making a tour in Egypt, has returned home, having motored from Marseilles across France.

Lord Eustace Cecil and Mr. A. Cecil have returned to Dorsetshire from a tour in Turkey, Greece, and Egypt, to join Lady Eustace Cecil and Miss Cecil, who have been travelling in Italy.

Sir Alfred Moloney, late Governor of Trinidad and Lady Moloney, have arrived on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Manley at Bulkeley.

We published on Saturday an article from the pen of the well-known author, Mrs. Irene Harvey, who is better known to the world as Irene Osgood and is author of "To a Nun confessed," "An Idol's Passion" etc. She is wintering in Egypt partly on account of her health, and partly in order to write another novel to do with modern Egyptian life. Mrs. Harvey's residence, Guilsborough Hall, is well known in Northampton. She is staying at Al Hayat, Helouan, where she is occupying a fine suite of rooms in the new building, and where she hopes to remain all the winter. She is very busy on her new book, but most of her spare time is devoted to riding exercise, and she finds the sand stretches in the desert as good for a gallop as the fields in the grass countries where she hunted for so many seasons.

SLATIN PASHA.

A Cairo correspondent of the "Army and Navy Gazette," in a communication on Slatin Pasha to that paper, says :—

"Slatin is in the best of health, although advancing years and much he has gone through are beginning to tell their tale, of course, on his outward appearance. But he is erect, alert, and full of enthusiasm in the British cause, and admiration for Lord Kitchener and his present able chief (the Sirdar). A cheery companion a man of wide information, and many gifts, he cannot fail to do well—admirably, in fact—in his now recognised position. I do not think I ever met a more interesting personage, for his knowledge of European politics is most extensive and his judgment so sound that he could not have failed to have made a great mark for himself in diplomacy. I have the highest admiration for him, and so have all whose privilege it is to reckon him among their friends."

ITALIAN BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

GRAN VEGLIONE.

In comparison with former years the number attending the "Gran Veglione" of the Italian Benevolent Society, which was held on Saturday night at the Alhambra theatre was small, and it was only a small minority who assumed fancy costume. The reason is well known. "C'est la crise"—that hideous cry which meets one at every turn. The organisers of the ball, however, had evidently put all thoughts of "la crise' aside, for they had decorated the theatre in a most lavish and artistic manner. The scene, indeed, was a very pretty one and when shortly before midnight the serpentine ribbons mingled themselves in picturesque disorder with the decorations it reminded one of a peep into fairy-land. The supper room was also very well decorated with flags, plants, and festoons of coloured paper. The catering was in the hands of Mr. Reinsperger of the New Khedivial Hotel and most royally did he act the host to those who patronised his magnificently stocked buffet. Excellent cold suppers were served and the "consommations" were of the best.

The boxes of the theatre were occupied by the leading members of the Italian community, and the arrival of the Italian Consul, the Marquis Soragna, was greeted by the playing of the Italian national anthem. The Governor of Alexandria and many other notabilities were also present.

It was not until the arrival of the confetti that the scene became festive, but from midnight until after two o'clock fun reigned supreme and one was showered with confetti on all sides. On the announcement of the division of the first prize between a lady toreador and a Spanish dancer the cheering was great, and the former was escorted to a box from which she was handed down to a crowd of enthusiasts awaiting her on the floor.

We consider that better arrangements should have been made by the police for the control of the traffic. On our arrival our carriage had to draw up in the middle of the street, both entrances being blocked by waiting carriages through which we had to force our way. Though we noticed later two shawish on duty, at the time of our arrival we could see none, and as far we could see no police officer was in charge.

THE ROMAN GOVERNERS OF EGYPT.

The historical information to be gathered from papyri and inscriptions relating to the Roman prefects, or governers, of Egypt has from time to time been published by Mr. Seymour Ricci of Paris in the Journal of an English society and it has been understood that he was preparing a work upon the subject. Meanwhile it appears that an Italian archaeologist, Signor Luigi Cantarelli, has been devoting himself to the matter and has issued the first part of a complete history of these officials under the title of "La serie dei prefetti di Egitto. I Da Ottavianus Augusto a Diocletiano" That an Italian scholar should undertake this task is particularly appropriate because in 1826, a compatriot, Giovanni Labus, for the first time established on some sort of scientific basis the chronolgical series of the earlier prefects from Augustus to Caracalla. The first portion of Mr. Cantarelli's memoir runs from 30 B. C commencing with Cornelius Gallus up to 282 A. D. when under the Emperor Carus, Celesinus was prefect. To each name, as far as possible, he appends a biography and more especially endeavours to record any events occurring during that special governorship of Egypt This causes his work to really be a history of Egyptian administration under the Romans. Signor Cantarelli has not permitted any information to escape him and has utilised it all with much sagacity and erudition and solved several of the most intricate chronological problems. Historians may with confidence draw upon his book for information and although the speedy publication of new Latin and Greek papyri will inevitably increase the information we possess concerning the prefects it is not likely to controvert any of the results Signor Cantarelli considers he has arrived at by his researches.

THE NEW CENTURY.

ITS DOMINATING INFLUENCE.

"In Europe, in England, in America, the 'impossibility of patience' is becoming the dominating influence in the political changes of a new century."

This is the most striking phrase in an important article on "Politics in Transition" in the "Nineteenth Century" for January, by Mr. C. F. G. Masterman, M. P. It is quoted from Napoleon. "The greatest minds of the past," writes Mr. Masterman, "have always recognised that with fading of supernatural encouragements from the ideals of the 'common people' the demand for betterment and social equality would become fiercely impatient.

Napoleon's Great Saying.

"'Society,' said Napoleon, when he was establishing the Concordat in France, 'cannot exist without inequality of material wealth, and this inequality cannot exist without religion. When a man is dying of hunger beside another who is surfeited with superfluities, it is impossible for him to patiently bear this difference if there is not an authority to say to him "God wills it so. There must be poor and rich in this world, but later in Eternity things will be arranged otherwise."'

"That eternity is vanishing below the horizon. That authority no longer speaks with unchallenged assertion. In Europe, in England in America that 'impossibility of patience' is becoming the dominating influence in the political changes of a new century."

This most interesting problem, however, Mr. Masterman does not develop explicitly. His immediate object is the discussion of the situation in this country and how the contending forces stand. His reading of recent events here is that "realities have crashed into the activities of politics, which generally manage successfully to elude them. The social question has at last 'arrived' in England as it has arrived previously in other European lands. Henceforth of necessity it must dominate the situation. 'Man will actually need to have his debts and earnings a little better paid by man,' says a great writer, 'which, let Parliaments speak of them or be silent of them, are eternally his due from man, and cannot, without penalty, and at length not without death penalty, be witheld.' The interest of the immediate future is largely bound up with the attitude in which each political party will confront this vigorous intruder.

The Liberal Opportunity.

"To the Liberal Party, as the party in possession, is offered the greatest opportunity. If it can realise the magnitude of the challenge presented and go forward boldly in some large and far-reaching scheme of social reform in universal old age pensions, in a national unemployed policy, in a shifting of local imposts from the houses and factories to the land—it may find itself not inadequate to the needs of the newer time. Tariff Reform, on the other hand, undoubtedly has a future as a practical weapon of social appeal. As an Imperial readjustment it has already become dead and a vision. As a means of promising more work for all, it will never lack allegiance. The fact that it is utterly indefensible as an economic system if it be utterly indefensible — is no kind of guarantee that it may not become a political reality.

"'What's the use of talking to a hungry pauper about Heaven" was Kinsley's forlorn inquiry. What's the use of lecturing the unemployed about "the balance of trade"? is the equally pertinent inquiry of the Tariff Reformer. The appeal of Protection has hitherto only been propagated on a rising and therefore an unfavourable market. What would be its effect on a falling one? Only two forces are potent enough to disturb the great impact of this social upheaval The one is the force of nationality. The other is the force of religion. Governments may be convinced that if the priests (of all churches) were removed, religious questions, in education and elsewhere, would no longer disturb them. But if they legislate upon the assumption that the priests have been removed, they are apt to suffer rude awakenings. Ireland, the home of a nation with a "mind diseased," stands outside all this bubbling and ferment of a new social interest. A Parliament with some eighty Irish members allied with a similar force of independent Labour, holding the balance between a Liberal majority and a Protectionist minority, would provide a political situation rich with unknown possibility of change. It is a political situation which demands no miracle for its production before the expiration of this first decade of the century."

Position of the Government.

Mr. Masterman's survey of the political situation is full of piquancy. "The Government in the last two years," he says, "has been subjected to every kind of criticism, obloquy, and abuse. The bulk of the respectable Press of England and Scotland has been perpetually assailing it with an increasing ferocity; and the majority of those classes who are accustomed to think that they are controlling public opinion are filled with bitterness because it refuses to disappear." The Government does not even lose bye-elections, he points out, though over fifty contests have taken place. With one or two exceptions, which he names, he says "the tale is of maintenance and even (as in North-West Staffordshire) improvement on the General Election. All the hubbub of the newspapers and of Society, the violence of the Opposition platform, seems to pass altogether unnoticed amongst the masses of the people, who, gazing on these antics with something of the grave wonder of a child watching the fantastic attempts of would-be humorists to grimace and gibber before it in vain effort to amuse, only exhibit an indifference more baffling than open condemnation."

The Labour Party.

"Here alone, then," exclaims Mr. Masterman, "there would appear to be some evidence of a changed world, of some slow, profound, and not yet entirely explicable shifting of the electorate away from allegiance to those who had for so long been its masters. Yet this is but half of the tale of marvel. For outside the Liberal Party, and altogether independent of it, there has suddenly arisen a third applicant for the suffrages of the electors, whose advance into public favour has been headlong in its growth. It appears to draw support from those who have formerly voted Tory, from those who have formerly voted Liberal, and from a third class of electors risen as if from the ground or fallen from the sky. It possesses a kind of inner core or secret power of enthusiasm which the older organisations are unable to secure. That enthusiasm fills its meetings with a passionate emotion, and enlists numbers of obscure men and women in disinterested service, and swings the whole affair forward with an energy and ardour adequate to the achievement of the impossible.

"It can now reckon upon substantial support, varying in quantity, but of the same general texture, in any large industrial centre outside London. It arrives on the scene without previous preparation, it organises the apparatus of agitation, it flings up marquees for its meetings, or holds perpetual argument in the open air, it adds a novel and fierce zest to the normal decorum of the bye-election; before it has finished it has concentrated popular attention upon itself and stirred the whole city into tumult. It can poll nearly a third of the electorate against both the historic parties, as at Hull and Huddersfield. It can beat in fair fight both the historic parties, as at Jarrow or Colne Valley. It can assail even one of the scanty remnants of Tory strongholds, as at Kirkdale, and leave as a result the impression of the seat saved, though hardly, by the beating off of the attack at the eleventh hour."

The Premier and Mr. Balfour.

Here are Mr. Masterman's estimates of the Liberal and Conservative parties: "The Government, I think, stands if anything in a stronger position to-day than two years ago. Undoubtedly it has been assisted by very favourable external changes; two years of unprecedented prosperity at home, two years abroad of almost unprecedented peace. To-day Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has attained a position which even the most contemptuous of his opponents is compelled to acknowledge as unique, incontestable, if also (as it remains to many of them) inexplicable. Almost every member of his Cabinet—an administration extraordinarily—has revealed some unexpected quality of tenacity or inspiration. Some, who find legislating difficult, are excellent in administration; those who possess no great stores of knowledge reveal a quick and lively intelligence; some who have only average intellect possess a more than average effervescence; those who are not men of genius are often picturesque. It would be difficult to convey to the outsider the domination which this group of men to-day exercises in the House of Commons. Opposite is little but desolation.

"The languid air of rather bored indifference, which came to be accepted as the tone of its predecessors in office, was perhaps a more exciting cause of exasperation amongst the plain business men than even the eccentricities of fiscal 'tactics' or the bankruptcy of social legislation. Mr. Balfour is probably as hard-working and enthusiastic as any previous Prime Minister. But he succeeded in conveying to the electorate the impression of a mind superior to and detached from the common work of the world; interested in ingenious problems of dialectic, but scorning to read the newspapers, and gazing on the squalid realities of the competitive struggle with some bewilderment and some disdain."

Condition of the Opposition.

"But," continues Mr. Masterman, "if the Liberal Party finds itself in a position demanding courage and insight, the plight of its historic opponents is beyond measure more desperate. In Parliament itself, where dialectic and debating power occupy the supreme position, Mr. Balfour, a master of subtlety, quickness, and dialectic, has been able to maintain some semblance of resistance. But in the country, where the appeal of the intellect scarcely counts in comparison with the impulse of the emotions and the demand of the will, and only some compelling energy of conviction can influence the energies of man, the party has sunk into the very trough and tangle of decay. They can neither do without Mr Balfour nor with him—without him in the House of Commons, with him in the constituencies They can neither do without Protection nor with it. Apart from their own vigorous dissensions, they cannot unite upon any rational measure of opposition. Unable to distiguish between what men care for and what men care nothing for, they waste their energies upon irrelevant denunciation of things to which the electorate is profoundly indifferent."

Mr. Masterman is of opinion that "every sign to-day would seem to point to an ad hoc election on the Lords' veto some twelve or eighteen months from to day."

"THE SAME AWFUL HAND."

An eminent English Statesman, a member of the present Cabinet, made gratifying comment recently upon the fact that the terrible scourge of consumption was now to some extent being checked, adding that he was acquainted with several young people who had undoubtedly being cured of this dreadful disease. No one testifies more gratefully to the cure of Consumption than Mrs. Dyson, of 127, Westminster Terrace, Ellesmere Street, Moorside, Swinton, near Manchester.

Mrs. Dyson gives an account of an amazing care in her family, and the intensity of her feelings can be readily understood when it is stated that her mother's heart had been torn by the death of a daugther some years ago from this disease. When her second daughter, Alice, was declared to be in consumption her grief was terrible; but to day Mrs. Dyson is happy indeed, for her daughter Alice, she announces, has been completely cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and is regarded as having been veritably snatched from what seemed certain death.

TRACES OF DEATH IN HER FACE.

"Some time ago my daughter Gertrude was taken from me by consumption," she said to a reporter. "You will understand therefore my anguish when I saw the same awful hand upon Alice, my twelve year-old daughter. Alice had shared poor Gertrude's bedroom, and when we found that she was attacked with consumption we lost all hope of saving her. She began to refuse food and complained that everything she swallowed tased sour.

'Oh mother' she would cry, 'I feel such cruel pains in my back and sides' Every time she breathed her heart and lungs were pierced by sharp spasms; and she fell away to mere skin and bone. Her glassy eyes and hollow cheeks filled me with anxiety, and day by day she grew worse.

"She was so lifeless that at last she became too weak to use her legs, and could hardly stand. She was restless at night, startled by horrid dreams, bathed in perspiration, and exceedingly feverish. Neighbours expressed grave fears that she had but little longer to live. Hospital treatment made no improvement. She got weaker and weaker and had the traces of death on her face, when an elderly lady residing near us called and told us that she had been given up by her doctors ten years ago, and finally cured herself with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

WHAT ALICE WANTED.

"'It is good blood your daughter Alice wants to fight consumption with, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will put that in her veins' she said.

"So,' continued Mrs. Dyson, 'I bought the pills for Alice, and they proved to be the only medicine that did her any good. She began to ask for food, and she ate a little solid food regularly with perfect ease and digestion. We persevered with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and by their means saved our daughter's life. Everyone who knew her recognises that an astonishing cure has taken place.' She is now perfectly well, bright and bonny and full of life.

Victims of Consumption need the pure, rich blood and renewed strength and vitality which enable the malady to be fought. This new good blood and vitality is supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

QUARANTINE FOR OYSTERS.

The Alexandrian and Port-Said oysters are excellent and as we have all the paraphernalia of quarantine at hand, there is no reason why we should not follow the example of France and have quarantine beds for the bivalve. In the beginning of the year the French oyster trade suffered considerably from the typhoid scare, and the sales decreased by 75 per cent. The parties interested grew anxious, and bestirred themselves to the extent of applying to the Government for help. This was extended in the shape of an expert commission, nominated jointly by the Ministries of Interior and Marine, and presided over by Mr. Fabre Domergue, Inspector General of Fisheries. This commission has now handed in the result of its inquiries and its recommendations, which come into force immediately. According to these, certain beds, five or six in number, are held to be contaminated, and no oysters are to be delivered from them, either to wholesale dealers or to private customers. Each of these beds is strictly watched, and consignments are only permitted to be sent to other clean beds, where they will be kept under observation for some time till they have purged themselves of all noxious microbes. This system of quasi-quarantine beds for oysters is scientifically supposed to be sound, though it does not appeal altogether to lay taste. The simple ostrophage may well be inclined to ask what becomes of the microbes, and whether there is not a danger of the clean bed becoming infected. For the time being, however, no oysters from suspected spots are allowed to reach Paris, and the market is reviving rapidly.

DISASTROUS CINEMATOGRAPH PERFORMANCE.

RUSH FROM THE GALLERY.

CHILDREN TRAMPLED TO DEATH.

LONDON, January 12.

A terrible disaster has occurred at a cinematograph performance in Barnsley public hall. A number of children rushed down the staircase to obtain better seats. Many were overthrown and trampled upon. 16 were crushed to death and many injured, some fatally. The average age of the victims is 6. The gallery was overcrowded, and, with a view to relieving the crush, it was decided to transfer some of the occupants of the gallery to better seats.

The usher called out for some of the children to come downstairs when a rush ensued and hundreds of them were trampled under foot in a narrow winding seaircase, which was blocked with bodies of crushed and bruised children. Their companions, who were forced by pressure behind, scrambled over them. (Reuter)

SIR FRANK LASCELLES.

GERMAN APPRECIATION.

BERLIN, January 12.

The "Cologne Gazette" confirms the news published in the New-York Herald that Sir F. Lascelles will leave his post in the autumn. Sir F Lascelles played an important part in the restoration of friendly relations Germany and Great Britain. His activity and great experience were highly appreciated by the Emperor William and King Edward.

The "Gazette" adds that in competent German circles nothing certain is known about Sir Frank Lascelles' retirement, except that owing to his advanced age he intends to leave his post. In Germany his departure will be greatly regretted. It is stated that the British Government is using every inducement to prevail on him to alter his determination. (Reuter)

BULLETIN DE LA BOURSE

Lundi, 13 Janvier

La corbeille des valeurs a été ouverte ce matin, mais les banques de la ville étant fermées aujourd'hui et demain, les règlements n'auront lieu que mercredi 15 courant.

A l'enchère qui a eu lieu ce matin à 11 heures 50 Gabbari Land ont trouvé preneurs à 2 1/8 et 20 Obligations Crédit Foncier Egyptien ancienne émission à 280.

L'ouverture a présenté beaucoup d'animation, mais peu à peu des réalisations étant survenues l'activité a fait place au calme et on a clôturé en somme dans un état de lourdeur pour l'ensemble de la cote. Pourtant, les prix sont soutenus. Quant aux affaires, elles ont été clairsemées et insignifiantes.

Tout l'intérêt a porté sur la National Bank, l'Agricole, l'Aboukir et l'Ordinary Khédivial Mail. On a aussi traité par intermittence et surtout au début, la Delta Land, le Comptoir et l'United. En National Bank les transactions ont été assez suivies. Pour l'Ordinary Khédivial Mail et l'Aboukir il s'agit plutôt d'une demande active sans contre-partie. La recherche de ces deux derniers titres provient de Londres où la spéculation paraît s'en être emparée; c'étaient en tous cas les arbitragistes pour cette place qui achetaient. Les prix, grâce à la rareté du titre sur place et à l'absence à peu près complète de vendeurs ont pu être poussés de 29/3 à 32/9 pour l'Aboukir et de 18/9 à 19/6 pour l'Ordinary Khédivial Mail. A signaler encore des échanges assez nombreux en obligations Crédit Foncier ancienne et nouvelle émission qui progressent la première de 280 à 281 et la seconde de 252 à 252 1/2. La demande doit provenir sans doute des achats faits par les assureurs contre les risques du tirage d'amortissement.

La National Bank avance de 20 3/8 à 20 1/2 Sur des demandes la Daïra progresse également de 13 à 13 1/16, la Spinning de 7/32 à 1/4, les Nungovich Hotels de 12 à 12 1/2, la Delta Land de 1 à 1 1/32, la Port Said Salt de 10/3 à 10/6.

D'autre part, la Bière d'Alexandrie fléchit de 112 à 107 la Privilégiée et de 69 à 65 la Dividende, la Banque d'Athènes de 115 114 1/2, l'Urbaine de 2 7/8 à 2 27/32, et la Banque d'Orient de 114 à 113 1/2.

Les Sucreries sont inscrites à 30 nominal contre 29. La Land Investment, qui n'était plus cotée depuis longtemps, a été inscrite ce matin à 3 3/4 nominal.

Il n'y a pas d'autre changements à signaler. Comme nous l'avons dit ci-dessus, la tendance paraît plutôt lourde dans l'ensemble et il y aura besoin de l'appui de Londres et de Paris pour soutenir notre marché, qui manque absolument d'entrain.

TO OUR VISITORS.

The Egyptian Gazette has much pleasure in presenting to its subscribers the accompanying description of some of the many interesting routes by which they may travel homewards. Great care has been taken to arrange them as accurately and concisely as possible, and it will be found that none of them are fraught with difficulty. In choosing the route home there are several things to be considered. To begin with there is the difference in climate between Egypt and the various points at which you may arrive in Europe.

This depends partly upon the month in which you leave Egypt, for Cairo in January may a little warmer than the Riviera and possibly not so warm as Sicily, but in March it will be warmer than Rome, and more uniformly warm than many other places in Europe.

Many people leave Egypt far too early in the year, for as a rule the weather in April and May is perfect. The warmest place to go to on leaving Egypt is Sicily.

Some will want to take into consideration the number of days to be spent at sea, and we therefore subjoin a list shewing the time occupied on each of the various routes between Egypt and the Continent of Europe.

They are as follows:—

The long sea routes—from Port Said or Alexandria to Plymouth, Southampton, London or Liverpool—occupy about 14 days. The short ones are as follows:—

Port Said or Alexandria to Brindisi	3 days
Alexandria to Messina	3 ,,
Port Said or Alexandria to Marseilles	5 ,,
Alexandria to Venice and Trieste...	3½ ,,
Alexandria to Naples	3 ,,
Port Said to Genoa	5 ,,
Port Said to Naples	4 ,,
Alexandria to Constantinople... ...	4 ,,
Alexandria to Pirœus	2 ,,
Port Said to Gibraltar	7 ,,

The steamers of the P. & O., North German Lloyd, Orient, and Messageries Maritimes are the largest. The Anchor, British India, Bibby and Henderson Lines are also excellent, and their steamers are largely patronised by travellers to Egypt.

As regards the train journeys from Cairo the shortest is that to Alexandria, without change (3 hours). That to Port Said can now be made without change in 4½ hours.

The least expensive way to England is by the Moss, Papayanni, Prince, and Westcott lines of steamers from Alexandria to Liverpool. The German Levant line has also good steamers from Alexandria to Hamburg.

The quickest through Continental routes are by P. & O. Brindisi express from Port Said, and the Austrian Lloyd Trieste-Vienna express from Alexandria.

As regards heavy luggage, it must be borne in mind that very little luggage is allowed free on the railways of Europe, but there are several good and responsible forwarding agents in Egypt who undertake at a fixed charge to deliver packages to any address in Europe.

The quickest manner of getting to Europe from Port Said is undoubtedly by the fast Mail Steamers "Osiris" and "Isis" to Brindisi. One of these leaves Port Said every week, as soon as possible after receiving the Indian mails from the great liner arrived from Bombay.

These small but comfortable ships have enormously powerful engines, and attain a very high rate of speed. They are called the "Ferry boats," having been specially built to carry the British mail from Port Said to Brindisi. If you are going straight through to England you will find the train waiting at Brindisi which will take you to Calais without changing. It has complete arrangements for sleeping and eating on board, and you should arrive in London on the fifth day from leaving Port Said.

SICILY.

The direct route to Sicily is by the Florio-Rubattino Co's steamers, which leave Alexandria weekly for MESSINA, where one takes train to TAORMINA, one of the most charming and popular places on the island. Giardini is the station at which to alight, and the drive up to Taormina is most delightful, occupying about one hour. In and around the town is much to interest the visitor. The theatre is of Greek origin, but restored under the Romans. CATANIA is the starting place for the ascent of Etna, and here also is a fine Cathedral. The Greek, Roman, and Saracenic remains that are found all over the island, are an endless source of pleasure. SYRACUSE has an interesting history, having been a Greek city, which was designed by Demosthenes in B.C. 413, and taken by the Romans in B.C 212, when Archimedes was slain—his tomb is to be seen. The cathedral was once an ancient pagan temple. PALERMO, with about 300,000 inhabitants, is the capital of the Island, and enjoys a delightful climate. Much of interest is to be found in this fine city. The Palazzo Reale is of a Saracenic origin and close to it the church of S. Giovannia degli Frimiti with its picturesque cloisters. The Cathedral. Museum, Botanic Gardens, Villa Giulia and Royal Park are also worth a visit.

CENTRAL ITALY.

The fine steamers of the North German Lloyd leave Alexandria every Wednesday during the season for Naples, the voyage being only 3 days.

NAPLES is also reached in 10 hours from Palermo by the Florio Rubattino Co.'s steamers, which leave daily. One cannot approach Naples or leave it without wishing to explore some of its islands, besides the lovely places on its bay—Castellamare and Sorrento. The small steamer that takes you to Sorrento [you can drive to] will take you on to Capri.

From Naples to ROME is a train journey of but five hours. All who can will devote at least one week to visiting the many historical and interesting portions of the Eternal City, whose charms and beauties are too well-known to need comment here.

Leaving the Eternal City with much regret, a railway journey of five hours brings you to FLORENCE, where another week can well be spent admiring the City of Flowers and its surrounding country. In Florence itself the churches and galleries are of absorbing interest, whilst the local promenades and excursions should not be omitted. The Cascine is the most attractive and fashionable promenade in Florence, whilst the Viale dei Colli, one of the finest walks in Europe opened 35 years ago, goes winding up through the hills a distance of four miles. The most delightful excursion outside Florence is that to Vallombrosa, with its Monastery 3,300 feet above the sea level. This is made first by ordinary train from Florence to St Ellero, thence by cogwheel railway to Saltino. The ascent through groves of oaks takes an hour, and most striking panoramas are unfolded to view.

PISA is easily reached from Florence in about 2 hours; here there is a fine Cathedral and the Leaning Tower. A stay of at least one night should it possible be made in order to enjoy the view from the Campanile at sunset.

VIAREGGIO. One of the most delightful places on the Italian Riviera near Pisa and on the main line from Rome to Genoa. It is a very convenient half-way house between Egypt and England, and where living is reasonable and the air and surroundings exceptionally good.

NORTHERN ITALY.

GENOA (La Superba) — The most picturesque and interesting city in Italy, with the record of having one of the lowest death averages of European cities and a phenomenally equable temperature — warm in winter and deliciously cool breezes from the surrounding mountains and the Mediterranean in summer.

The patriarchal home of Italy's most ancient nobility, whose palaces, gardens, and famous collections of statuary, frescoes and paintings, are a constant delight to thousands of travellers who annually sojourn in Genoa. Then there are the superbly decorated mediæval churches containing exquisite marble columns and historical paintings, and the incomparable Campo Santa filled with its wonderful tombs.

MILAN is a good centre for Northern Italy before making the toor of the Lakes. The Cathedral is the principal attraction, with its beautiful windows illustrating the History of the Bible. The public gardens and the monumental cemetery are also worth a visit.

Between Bologna and Milan and only an hour and a half from Milan is SALSOMAGGIORE, a renowned health resort on account of its thermal springs, change trains at Borgo San Domino and in half-an-hour you are at Salsomaggiore.

NORTHERN ITALY (Continued) and The ITALIAN LAKES.

VENICE is a 5 hours' journey by rail from Milan, and one of the most delightful places imaginable to pass a quiet stay. The total absence of vehicular traffic strikes one as very strange; no horse, cart, carriage or bicycle is to be seen, and yet there is the sound of life at every turn. The approach to Venice from the Adriatic is unlike that of any other seaport. The town seems to be gradually, like Aphrodite, born of the sea. No hills behind, no stretches of rock, but first the tops of Campaniles appear above the horizon, then slowly the whole glittering town rises like a fairy mirage out of the calm lagoon.

COMO, the birthplace of the younger Pliny, is reached in one and a quarter hours by train by way of Monza:

Boats leave Como frequently for the other towns on the lake, which is very beautiful, and the scenery on either side going up the lake is most enchanting. CERNOBBIO is a charming spot; then come Tremezzo, Cadenabbia, and Menaggio with the prettily situated town of Bellaggio opposite. The walk from Tremezzo along the shore of the lake to Menaggio is most enjoyable. A steam tram runs from Menaggio to Porlezza on Lake Lugano in three-quarters of an hour, then steamer to Lugano in two-and-three-quarter hours.

SWITZERLAND.

Switzerland, the heart of Europe, has been described as "A cluster of delights and grandeurs."

LUGANO is some 20 miles from Como, and reached by train in one-and-a-half hours. It has a population of 10,000 people and is charmingly situated on the Lake of Lugano, amidst lovely Italian scenery. Around it rise M. San Salvatore, M. de Caprino and M. Generoso.

LOCARNO may be reached by rail from Bellinzona in forty minutes. This pretty town, situated at the top of Lake Maggiore, has a mild climate, and is an excellent winter resort. The church Madonna del Sasso, situated above the town, is worth a visit, as it contains interesting paintings, "Entombment," by Ciseri, and "The Flight into Egypt," by Bramantion.

In and around the town the walks are charming, and the excursions to be made from Lucerne by boat, rail, etc, are very numerous.

The Lake of Lucerne abounds in delightful excursions, those to the Rigi, Pilatus, Burgenstock and Sonnenberg needing a special visit each. Other excursions on the lake can be made by steamer, and the ever-changing scenery on the trip from Lucerne to Fluelen is a source of delight to the lover of nature.

THUN (on the Lake of Thun) half an hour from Berne and one hour from Interlaken. Quiet and quaint; sheltered from winds; just the place to rest and recuperate. Beautiful walks, through woods, and along the lake shore. Kursaal, Concerts, Casino, Races, Tennis, Boating, etc

THE BERNESE OBERLAND. — INTERLAKEN, a favourite summer resort, and the best centre for making excursions in the Oberland, abounding in fine walks and views. There is a magnificent view of the Jungfrau from the Hoheweg, a fine avenue of walnut trees, the chief resort of visitors. Interlaken is also not far from the famous waterfalls, Giessbach, Trummelbach and Staubbach. Then also the glaciers of Grindelwald and view from Murren and the Schynige Platte are sights not to be missed.

CHATEAU D'OEX, 3,500 ft. above the sea on the new Electric Railway between Montreux and Interlaken, surrounded by magnificent scenery, with pure dry air. Much frequented by English people in Summer and Winter.

ZURICH on the Gothard route. Direct communication with Northern Europe. Largest town in Switzerland, beautifully situated on the lake of Zurich. Theatres. Big Concert Halls. Boating on the lake. Excellent schools. The National Museum.

GREECE and IONIAN ISLES.

Many people visit Greece after wintering in Egypt, as it is so easily reached from Alexandria; the climate in April is charming. The best steamers are those of the Khedivial Mail Co. and Russian Steam Navigation Co.

It is hardly necessary to point out to Tourists the extraordinary interest of a visit to Athens from an artistic, historical and archæological point of view, and if possible tourists should average to be in Athens for the Orthodox Easter in order to witness the Good Friday and Easter Eve ceremonies, and to be present at the dancing on the Easter Tuesday festival held at Megara, for which a special train is run from Athens.

It is worth while to spend a few days in CORFU on account of the beauty of the scenery. There is also good snipe and quail shooting to be had.

PILULES DU DOCTEUR DEHAUT DE PARIS
n'hésitent pas à se purger, quand elles en ont besoin. Elles ne craignent ni le dégoût ni la fatigue, parce que, à l'opposé des autres purgatifs, celui-ci n'opère bien que lorsqu'il est pris avec de bons aliments et des boissons fortifiantes, telles que vin, café, thé. Chacun choisit, pour se purger, l'heure et le repas qui lui conviennent le mieux, selon ses occupations. La fatigue de la purgation étant annulée par l'effet de la bonne alimentation, on se décide aisément à recommencer autant de fois que cela est nécessaire.
